Coastal Community Bank Welcomes Joan Johnson to its Monroe Branch

EVERETT, Wash. – Coastal Community Bank is pleased to announce the arrival of Joan Johnson to the role of Assistant Manager at its Monroe location. A long-time native of Monroe, Johnson brings over 30 years of retail banking experience to her current position.

“I have known Joan for many years and always had respect for her banking expertise and strong reputation in the community,” said Katy Woods, VP and Branch Manager in Monroe. “As we bring on new clients, we often ask what they did or didn’t like about their last banking experience and for many Joan is the reason they banked where they did. We are lucky to have a homegrown banker like her advocating for our clients.”

Johnson began her career with Seafirst Bank when it was on Main Street in Monroe, working her way into branch management for Seafirst and later Bank of America. Most recently, she worked as a Teller for Columbia Bank in Snohomish. When Johnson is not serving the financial needs of clients, she supports local efforts like GroWashington and National Night Out as well as participates in Relay for Life and March for Babies.

Johnson replaces Alayna Gill who joined the Coastal Smokey Point team as Assistant Manager. Customers can contact Joan Johnson or Alayna Gill directly at jjohnson@coastalbank.com or agill@coastalbank.com.
